

My name is Luis Josue Vega Rodriguez, but everybody calls me Josh. I was born on July 27, 1988 in Siguatepeque, Honduras. My parents are missionaries, my dad teaches pastors in rural areas and my mom also teaches a ladies class at the local Bible School. Our family works with Siloam Int. and we are involved in many ministries such as managing teams, evangelism, translation, camps and many more.

I accepted Christ at the age of 5, and have served in our ministry since. I became involved in camp ministry after high school, serving in Cerro de Luz; run by the Scripture Union of Honduras. God blessed me by allowing me to help in camps around Honduras, El Salvador and Ecuador in planning, training, as a counselor and adventure activities facilitator. I also studied Mechanical Engineering major in the National University of Honduras (UNAH).

The Lord has given me a love for camp, outdoor ministry, and the young kids and teens that come here. As part of our ministry with Siloam our family lived a year in the Tri-Cities area starting a Hispanic ministry, during that time I came to Bancroft as a camper, some 20 years ago. After one year the Lord called us back to Honduras. Last year a friend posted a video of Bancroft and asked for prayers, as a joke I asked if I could come, the answer was a yes, the Lord provided and in about one month I was here serving as a counselor. The Lord continued to move and around fall I was offered the position of temporary Program Director for this year, after much prayer I believed it was the Lord's will and accepted. God is good, and I pray it will be a great summer!
